MAKING RESERVATIONS - An early reservation is your best assurance of getting the date you want, so we encourage you to make reservations as soon as possible. We recommend that you call our office before sending us your reservation form to confirm that the date you want is available. If it is, we'll be glad to hold your reservation for 10 days while your deposit is en route by mail. However, cancellations do occur, so we can frequently accommodate late reservations.

should accompany your reservation form. The balance is due and payable 120 days prior to departure. When we have received your deposit, we will send you a confirming letter and an invoice indicating amount paid and the date balance is due. Invoices are made out only to the person remitting the deposit.

CANCELLATION AND REFUND POLICY - Starting in 2009, our cancellation policy applies in every instance and there will be no exceptions for any reason. All cancellations must be received by us in writing. Deposits are promptly refunded, less a $100.00 per invoice cancellation fee, if notice of cancellation is received in our office 120 days or more prior to departure. With less than 120 days notice, all monies are non-refundable and forfeited. If you are concerned about the possibility of having to cancel, we strongly suggest you purchase our trip cancellation insurance to protect your vacation investment. (See our "Questions and Answers" page or our website under trip insurance for further details.)

PLANNING YOUR TRIP

Our eight, fourteen and sixteen day expeditions begin and end in Las Vegas, Nevada. Plan to arrive the afternoon or evening prior to your river trip. Las Vegas is served by many major airlines, making travel arrangements easy. Our representative will meet you at the hotel the evening prior to your trip at a pre-arranged time to answer last minute questions, and to give you waterproof river bags in which to pack your clothing. If you are driving to Las Vegas, you may leave your vehicle at the hotel for the eight, fourteen or sixteen days while you are on the river.

One of the most appealing aspects of a Grand Canyon river trip is that you need to bring very little with you to be comfortable. The climate in the canyon is mild, and just a few changes of clothes are needed. Travel light, travel happy! We supply all camping equipment, waterproof river bags, and waterproof camera boxes, and these are included in the cost of your trip. (a detailed list of recommended clothing and personal items to bring on the trip will be sent when reservations are confirmed.)

Our river trips end on the eighth, fourteenth or sixteenth day at South Cove, where a bus will be waiting to pick you up. You will be back in Las Vegas in the evening, giving you an option of staying in Las Vegas or scheduling a late evening flight.

COMMENTS FROM OUR GUESTS:

"The magic of the canyon once again, how lucky I am. Single boat, great crew, and a wonderful time. Our crew made all the difference. Many thanks to them and you for taking such good care of us. Can't do it without you."

Gerri Clark, May 2008

"The entire experience was more than expected. The canyon is indescribable, the crew was great and the memories will last a lifetime. I will run the river again with GCE!"

James Louie, May 2008

"Our side canyon trips were truly the "icing on the cake". I wouldn't miss these. They make the entire trip extra special. The knowledge of the staff was exceptional. I am writing an article about your staff. They demonstrated a truly outstanding example of exceptional customer service and team based management."

Mark Weston, June 2008

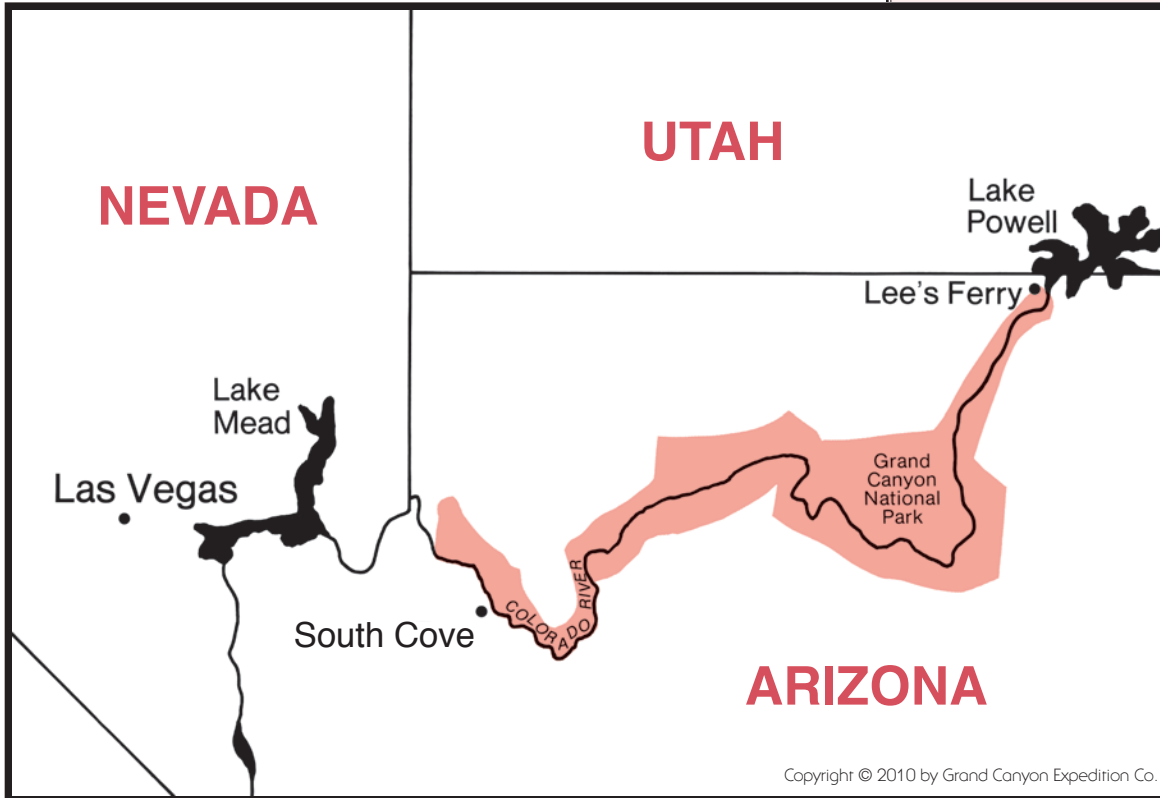

"I loved the ability to change rafts during our stay to get the best of each boatman's style. You gave me a full 8 days of the majesty of the canyon, as well as a fun and guest fellowship with your staff and the other guests. I've been recommending your company to everyone I speak with. Thank you!"

Katie Jasinski
August 2008

"I am a lot more independent than I thought. I was always hesitant to travel without my parents, but now I feel more comfortable. If you asked me to go again, I would say "yes" in an instant! I am more receptive to new ideas now."

GRAND CANYON CONSERVATION FUND

An optional $1 per day will be added to all trip costs and distributed, through the Grand Canyon Conservation Fund, to worthy conservation groups such as American Rivers, Grand Canyon Trust and others. How did you hear about Grand Canyon Expeditions Company?

SOME TYPICAL QUESTIONS AND OUR ANSWERS

Q Why eight, fourteen or sixteen days? Isn't it possible to go through faster?

A We take the time to make sure you have the finest experience possible. We refuse to rush you. For each individual the Grand Canyon becomes unforgettable. Only when you've looked up at its rim towering a mile above you, ridden the Colorado's exciting rapids, explored the many side canyons, and camped on the river's beaches can you begin to appreciate the Grand Canyon. Time never seems sufficient for all there is to see and do on a Grand Canyon voyage.

Q Which is the best month to go?

A We take most of our people during June, July, and August, when many families plan their vacations. During the summer, daytime temperatures range from 80 to 100 degrees, with a 10-to-20 degree drop at night. The lack of humidity together with frequent swimming or wading keeps you comfortable. Temperatures are a bit milder in the spring and fall, and these are very pleasant times to be in the Canyon. Many wildflowers are in bloom in April and May.

Q How strenuous is a river trip?

A You'll probably be more active than you are at home, but our river trips are not physically taxing. For your own assurance, you may wish to have a medical checkup before your trip. All hiking, swimming, and other activity on the trip is optional.

Q But I can't swim!

A No problem. Neither can many of the other people who come with us. We supply U.S. Coast Guard-approved life preservers, and each person is required to wear one at all times aboard the boats.

Q How much time each day will we spend on the boats?

A You will be on the boats an average of four to five hours a day. Because we allow eight or fourteen days to go through the Canyon, there is plenty of time each day to stop and explore side canyons, swim, or hike.

Q We'd like to bring our children. Is there a minimum age?

A We recommend our expeditions for children eight years and older. If your children have had some camping experience, enjoy outdoor life, feel at home around water, and adjust easily to being with an adult group, they'll enjoy the trip with you. We leave the final decision to parents. Young people under 16 must be accompanied by an adult.

Q How about camping? I've never slept outdoors.

A That's not unusual. But if you've thought of camping as damp and "buggy," you're in for a pleasant surprise. The Canyon is a friendly place to sleep—you can roll out your bed almost anywhere. Infrequent rain showers seldom last long, and with the right gear you can enjoy them. Chances are, once you try river camping you'll look forward to nightly sessions around the camp and sleeping under the stars in the clear Canyon air.

Q I'm on a special diet. Will it be possible to stay on it while on the river?

A If we know before your river trip, we will try to bring the special foods you prefer, or you may bring them and we will provide storage.

Q What kind of toilet facilities will we use on the river?

A We carry portable, sanitary toilets which will be set up near camp every evening and will be available for use through the following morning. We stop frequently during the day for you, and your guide will explain the procedure for these rest stops.

Q I get sea-sick easily. Is this a problem on a river trip?

A You are extremely unlikely to experience any kind of motion sickness while aboard our rafts. This has not been a problem with any of our guests. The up-and-down action of the boat while going through rapids is fun and lasts for just a few minutes at a time. On calmer water the motion you'll feel is relaxing.

Sleeping bag, sleeping pad, ground cloth, rain shelter, camera box, and waterproof river bags are provided at no extra cost.

Q Is it possible to charter a river trip?

A We arrange charter trips for many different groups and organizations. Special charter rates are available.

Q Are your trips ever delayed?

A We have seldom cancelled or postponed trips, or been delayed in our schedules; however, due to weather conditions, water fluctuations, insufficient reservations or other factors beyond our control, we cannot be responsible for the delay, cancellations, or rescheduling of any trip. In the event we cancel or reschedule your trip, your money will be refunded or applied to another trip, as you prefer.

Q What about trip insurance and emergencies?

A Grand Canyon Expeditions strongly encourage all trip participants to purchase trip cancellation insurance to protect your vacation investment. At times, various situations occur when a guest needs to cancel their trip. In these situations, we generally do not have time to refill the space, yet, we have already spent considerable time, money and energy preparing for your trip. Because of our short season and very limited number of available seats, we cannot afford the financial loss that cancellations cause. With that said, Grand Canyon Expeditions is strongly recommending our short term travel cancellation and accident insurance. We do regret we can not make exceptions for personal emergencies. Please consider the investment you are making in your vacation and whether or not you can afford the loss if you did have to cancel.

Although we spare no effort to assure a safe trip, a river expedition or a canyon hike is not without some risks. We are equipped to handle emergency first aid. In case of illness or accident, Grand Canyon Expeditions will attempt to provide aid and arrange evacuation when your guide determines evacuation is necessary. We cannot assume responsibility for injury to passengers or personal belongings, or for time or expenses incurred from negligence of others. Cost of specialized means of evacuation, such as helicopters, and medical care beyond first aid are the financial responsibility of the ill or injured person.

Q I still have questions about the trip I've selected.

A If our detailed information, which we will send to you when your reservations are confirmed, does not answer all your questions, please call or write our office and we'll gladly help you.
